HONGEONG, THURSDAY, NOV. 22, 1877.

THE remarks of Mr Keswick at the last meeting of the Legislative Council are well worth attentive consideration. Summarised they amount to this: that in throwing these heavy charges on the Colony we should be thoroughly assured its present and future revenues will not be unduly burdened; that any surplus revenue may be advantageously devoted to the relief of taxation; that the works proposed, although desirable ones, are not is given as 2,500 men. urgently needed; and that in dealing with crime we should endeavour to prevent Hongkong from becoming a prison house for China, exerting ourselves to keep the criminally inclined beyond our borders by deportation and severity of punishment, rather than attempting suppress crime here by reformation and long terms of imprisonment. "Crime does not originate with us," said 1 Keswick; "it comes to us, and should not be burdened with more than we can help; crime is committed in this Colony by people who come here for a few hours, a few days, or a few weeks, and should not be saddled on the Colony." Although Mr Keswick did not doubt the salutary effects of the separate system spend $95,000 on this scheme that he was mainly inclined to question. The separate system is a very excellent system, but the position of Hongkong in regard to criminals is such a peculiar one, that the introduction of the system here may not be desirable, especially as it involves such a serious outlay. fear very greatly the introduction of this system in the Colony will cost the community $100,000 in spite of the hopes of the approval by the Home Government | Chorus (Vocal), Comrades in Arms, Adam. of the project of sending our worst | Selection,..... His Excellency, the Governor, pathetically assured the Legislative Council on Monday he had received information from undeniable sources that a priest had been beckoned to by a woman of questionable sort of thing must be stopped. It is bad enough to find the demi monds winking at priests, but when we come to unequivotal waving of hands on plain jour there is something altogether wrong. In this enlightened age it will be hardly credited beyond our borders that such a state of affairs could exist in Hongkong. Let the Colony hide its diminished head. Priests must be protected by the laity from temptation—they and their work must be removed from spots where wickedness stalks rampant. The shock to the unfortunate priest's feelings must have been awful. Another case of this kind, and the Colony may be morally and legally guilty of manlaughter, for deliberately permitting a holy father to be frightened to death. The time has perhaps come when we should consider whether pricate and ministers of all denominations of raligion shall be carefully preserved alive in seclided and plyman arott away from worldly evils and contaminations. There would DREADFUL BOILER EXPLOSION ON have to be a million or two well separated allotments prepared for them if their varying views on religion were consulted, and peace secured. In this case the priest would perhaps have done better if, instead of running off in horror and representing his outraged feelings to "respectable members" of his flock, he had followed the Chief Justice's advice and summoned the hapless female who had the temerity to beckon to him pre sumably for other purposes than spiritual consolation.

BOARD THE S. S. YESSO.

A fearful accident occurred this morning shortly before 8 o'clock on board the 8. S. Yesso (Oaptain Ashton), belonging to Messes Douglas Lapraik & Co. The steamer had just arrived from the Coast Ports, and was being safely moored alongside the Wharf. The passengers were all preparing to leave her, when a loud report was heard and the vessel was shaken from stem to stern, while large volumes of steam issued from the fore-hatch and engine-room. A scene of consternation and dismay followed, and as many of the Chinese passengers as were able rushed on deck, all who were forward having been more or less scalded. It was easy to perceive what had occurred, and it only remained for the officers The Russians captured 7,000 prisoners at to do what they could to alleviate the suffer-Kars. General Loris Melikoff entered the ings of the unfortunate passengers. As soon as the steam had cleared away a An attack made by the Russians upon most horrible sight presented itself. Men were seen crawling along the decks fearfully disfigured, some of them having the skin literally peeled off their bodies. A large supply of oil was at once pro-The Detectives implicated in the recent cured from Messrs Lane, Crawford & Great Turf frauds have been sentenced to Co.'s store, which, together with lint, was liberally supplied to all; chairs were at once procured, and the poor patients were sent as fast as possible to the Civil Hospital. Chair after chair was brought on to the deck of the steamer, and the woeful appearance of the poor orestures was most pitiable; many of them were lifted into the chair a helpless mass of scalded quivering flesh, and there was a dazed look of unconsciousness on many of their faces. Captain Ashton and the other Officers of the ship, the Police, and several gentlemen did their utmost to facilitate their removal, Dr. being in attendance to superintend. After the living had been seen to, the dead were taken up, to the number of twelve. Most of these must have been killed instantly, to judge by the postbe simply the Swatow ill see poh tees, to tions in which they were found,—they were nearest to the fore-hatch when the steam from below forced itself upwards. lifting the hatch off and carrying all before it. One was found sitting on his luggage cross-legged leaning against the bulkhead, others were lying on mats and many had been maimed by pieces of splintered wood. Strange to say there was one family that escaped unscathed, their miraculous escape being in a great measure due to the presence of mind of the woman who shut the door of her cabin and thus excluded the steam. Two women also, from presence of mind or terror, wrapped themselves in their blankets, and thus saved themselves from being scalded. After the remeval of all the unfortunates the deck was found strewn with skin of legs, feet and hands which had fallen off entire. The number of persons scalded is about eighty, inchding four of the crew. Of these 64 were sent to the Hospital, 12 were dead and the remainder were only slightly hurt. The only European injured was the 2d engineer (Mr W. Haggat), but his injuries are not considered serious. The cause of the catastrophe was the blowing out of the forward end of the starboard boiler, but we have not learnt full particulars, and probably never will. The boiler has, we believe, been in use only three years and seven months. It was constructed by the

Of this, however, at present we need say nothing, The result of the explosion was, that the upper half of the forward end of the boiler was blown away; the bulkhead (made of diagonal planks), and portions of tea packages, being strown about the hold One of the beams of the ship was damaged, having evidently been struck by the iron when the explosion took place. the Company's engineer at that time).

The Police were most assiduous in preventing robbery. At the Government Civil Hospital nearly all the Navy, Military and Civil doctors in the colony were hard at work, and the Gaol Hospital had to be availed of. Admiral Hillyar very promptly signalled for medical assistance from the ships of war ; and we understand that H. E. the Governor visited the Hospital, where the sufferers were being attended to. A number of the men are at the Tung Wah Hospital. Several of the patients have sucoumbed since being taken to Hespital-deaths are, in fact, hourly taking place; and it is feared that many of the injuiries will have a fatal termination. An inquest will be held this afternoon at Great commotion has been caused amongst all classes of the Community, especially the Chiness, by the sad calamity and crowds of natives have hovered round Lapraik's Wharf and the Civil Hospital, during most of the day, Only five of the dead bodies have as yet been identified-viz Tung Achun (cook), and Taung Asam. to the time when the inquest was opened, bodies in the mortuary-twelve who were killed at once, and twenty-five who had died from the injuries they had sustained. The various hospitals water like as many fields of battle, with nearly all their tragic realities present; and although everything has been done which skill and dare dould suggest, we are sorry to learn that but few of the patients are expected to survive. Many who have received serious internal injuries, and who from their appearance were looked upon as hopeful cases have already suddimbed; and a much greater mortality is considered certain by the Colonial Surgeon. junction to restrain the defendant from selling an aniline dye packed and marked in the same manner as the plaintiffs', Hermanu and Kabn, dye manufacturers in Paris, and for damages for loss of profits arising from the defendant's so selling an imitation article.

The Attorney General said, before the Jury was sworn, that he did not know what question the Jury was here to try. The Cheif Justice said he had ordered the trial by Jury on the application and consent of both parties to have a Jury, but this was a bill in equity, and he did not know that they were required. The Attorn y General said he did not consent to the trial by Jury; no consent was necessary from him according to the Code. The Chief Justice suggested that the case might be proceeded with on its legal aspect until they came to circumstances which required the services of the Jury. After some discussion the Attorney General submitted to judgment on the first paragraph of the prayer, that for a perpetual injunction to refrain the defendant from selling similar packages of aniline dye This point having been conceded, the only question was as to the amount of damages for the loss of profits by the plaintiffs.

his "memorandum" has now been sent to the Government and part of it has been published in the recent blue book, his presence here is for the time " of no political importa ce." It is to be hoped however that it may lead to something like a respectable solution of the difficulty which I been run into open-eyed by the absurd delay which has taken place. The Chinese Ministers are, I have good ground to understand, quite alive to the force of the argument which they can now bring forward that, after the Chinese Government have performed their part we can hardly in henor refuse to ratify the convention, and there can be no doubt they will urge it, if they see any advantage in doing so. the other hand, the answer to this is obvious, namely that not only is it customary that a convention of this kind should be ratified before being acted upon, but the Chinese Government was fully aware of this fact from what occurred years ago with reference that they were bound to hesitate before opening the new ports &c. if they wished to make their doing so the price of other terms of the agreement. In reality the Chinese have not done anything which will injure them. They have opened the new ports quite as much for their own benefit as for ours, and have been allowed to get off the Margary difficulty upon markedly easy terms. Still it must be confessed that the argument is plausible and is certainly William Ferguson, a seaman unemployed, not a pleasant one for our Government to

Friday, Oct. 5: - Further particulars show, that the engagement between the Russians and Turks in Asia was serious. It is announced that in the fighting two Russian generals I at their lives. A Moscow telegram says that an attack was made by the Russian troops on Moukhtar Pacha's whole line, but the details of the conflict are wanting. A Pera correspondent of the Morning Advertisor says that Moukhtar Pacha has, after a great concentration of his troops, gained a considerable victory over the Russians, and that his forces are in posts which command Alexandropel, the Russian town which overhangs Anatolia, The details of the fighting have not yet been forwarded to Constantinople. Bucharest telegram announces that the Turks have occupied an important position on the Danube by Silistria. Russian troops are passing up to Kalarasch, on the other bank of the river. Fog has stopped the active operations in the Shipka Pass. Reouf Pacha, the new chief of the Ottoman forces in the district, has reorganized the hospital service at Kesanlik. Saturday, Oct. 6:-The telegrams from the theatre of war in Asia state that fighting continues and the Russians are in full retreat, having evacuated the heights of Yanilar, of which they took possession on Tuesday. These heights are now occupied by the Turks. The losses on both sides during this week have been enormous, and Calcutta, the Russian official account admits that several thousands of men have been put hors de combut. At one time Ghasi Moukitar's communications with were out off; but they have since been Mexicans, restored. that Roumania has gained all the moral advantage that is likely to accrue to her. Several reports have been sent within the past few days stating that typhus prevails badly among the Russian troops. To-day one telegram announces that the Czar has ordered the immediate mobilization of a new army corps for Bulgaria. By the explosion of a powder magazine at Terguschoff sixteen lives have been lost and a great quantity of ammunition, intended for the Roumanian army before Pleyna, has been destroyed.

Tuesday, Oct. 9 :- Throughout the region of the Danube winter is fast setting in. and the continued fall of snow, and rain for nearly half a day, by a band of ten threatens to seriously retard if not to stop all military operations. The Danube bridges are blocked, which will much impede the Russians. Telegraphic com-Pasha has entered the Turkish camp with reinforcements. Caman Pasha is reported to have repelled snother strong attack on date, from the Russian head-quarters at Gorny Studen, states that, notwithstanding the cold and rainy weather, the Russian sappers continued working before Plevna; and that the Roumanians have considerably widened their trenches. No shots were being exchanged. Telegrams from St. Petersburg report that an attempt has been made on the life of Prince Andronikoff in Dahgistan. The Prince was wounded, but is stated to be now out of danger. As to order to compete with the Turks, who are numbers, the Russians are forming brigades of sharp-shooters. It is reported though apparently without authority, that there is to be a change of Russian commanders. Wednesday, Oct. 10 :- The telegrams from all parts of the theatre of war in-Europe speak to-day of continued storms of rain and snow. At Pleyns the snow has put an end to the operations of the Russians, who for the previous two or three days had been working by night as well as by day. In consequence of the heavy rain the Danube has been flooded, and some damage has been done to the pontoon are being made by the Montenegrins to entrench their positions, since the rumour has reached them that Mehemet All Packs operating against them. Thursday, Oct. 11:-The news from the seat of war to-day is more important. important positions without opposition. There has been some fighting at Plevna, inwhich the Turks were the assailants. They are said to have been twice repulsed, but the outposts continue to harass the Russians, who are stated from one quarter to be working in the trenches, but from another to be constructing caverns for their shelter from the weather, which is increasing in inclomency. According to a Russian official despatch, Mukhtar Pacha has abandoned most of his positions, including Kizil Tepe, and has commenced retreating. This movement is said to have been brought about by the recent operations. From Galatz we hear that an engagement between a Russian steamer and a Turkish vessel ended in the destruction of the latter by explosion and the loss of all on board. At the feast of the Bairam yesterday, in a congratulatory address to his troops, the Sultan said he hoped the war would soon be concluded to the advantage of Turkey, and that the soldiers will return from the seat of war to repair the enormous losses sustainin the defence of the country.

Merchant Vessels in Hongkong Harbour.

Exclusive of late Arrivals and Departures reported to-day.

To facilitate finding the position of any vessel in the Harbour, the Anchorage is divided into eight Sections, commencing at Green Island. Vessels near the Hongkong shore are marked h., near the Kowloong shore k., and those in the body of the Shipping or midway between each shore are marked c., in conjunction with the figures denoting the sections.

1. From Green Island to the Gas Works. 2. From Gas Works to the Novelty Iron Works. 3. From Novelty Iron Works to the Harbour Master's Office.
4. From Harbour Master's to the P. and O. Co.'s Office.

5. From P. and O. Co.'s Office to Peddar's Wharf. 6. From Peddar's Wharf to the Naval Yard. 7. From Naval Yard to the Pier.

8. From Pier to East Point.
